

Used Book Donation Promotional Weeks

Date August 14 (Mon) – 25 (Fri), 2017

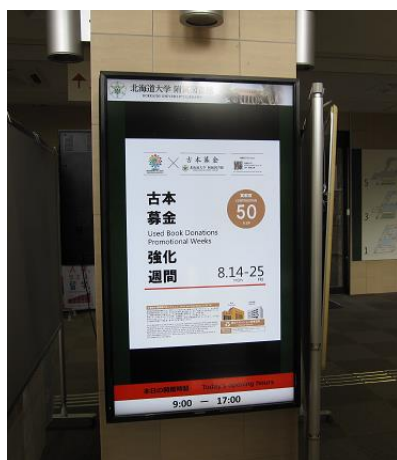

Organizer Hokkaido University Library

Venue Hokkaido University Library (Central Library & North Library)

One of the projects of the Hokkaido University Library is to recycle used books received by various people and use the donations to support educational and research activities, such as purchasing books for students and library furniture. By reducing the number of disposed books, Hokkaido University reduces its environmental impact and provides educational support at the same time. Please check here for the details.

During Sustainability Weeks 2017, the total number of donated used books to our libraries, including the Central Library, the North Library, the Library of the Fishery Sciences, the Library of Medical Sciences, the Library of the Engineering, and the Library of the Graduate School of Information Science and Technology, reached 1,939, 1,907 of which were purchased. In addition, during this period, the purchase price was increased by 50% so that the total amount was 115,595 JPY.

The promotional weeks have finished, but the used books donation project is still ongoing. “Donation stations” your continued support can be found at the Central Library and North Library. We appreciate your continued support.
