Frontier Spirit

Our Frontier Spirit epitomizes the ideal that students, academics and administrative staff should resolutely take up their daily challenges with an eye to forging new paths. It has its origins in the words “lofty ambition” uttered by Dr. W. S. Clark during the opening ceremony of Sapporo Agricultural College. This basic philosophy has served as the foundation on which Hokkaido University has rested for more than a century. The twenty-first century frontier spirit manifests itself in our continued expansion of research in response to shifting academic paradigms and the new challenges facing humanity. Based on a firm foundation of academic freedom, Hokkaido University aims to encourage creative research that does not separate theory from practice, and to promote world-class studies to solve the problems confronting humankind. We will do so by dramatically improving our research and educational activities via the flexible organization of our graduate schools and other networks.

Global Perspectives

From its very start, Sapporo Agricultural College was always open to different world-views, introducing Western culture, science, and technology, and providing English-language lectures by foreign teachers. Ever since, many of our graduates have played active roles overseas, and our philosophy of the value of acquiring global perspectives has been passed down in many different forms. Needless to say, we must cultivate a better understanding of other cultures by enriching our liberal arts education, underpinned by an awareness of our own culture. By cultivating communication skills in foreign languages, we can better prepare ourselves for playing a more active role in the global arena. To help our students and staff acquire global perspectives and thus contribute to the development of an international society, Hokkaido University seeks to provide ample opportunities for study and research abroad. We actively encourage the admission of foreign students and researchers, and promote cultural and social exchanges with people in Asia, the northern regions, and throughout the rest of the world.

All-Round Education

Sapporo Agricultural College not only trained agricultural experts, but also produced graduates endowed with a rich humanity, lofty intellect, and broad range of knowledge. The results can be seen in the succession of outstanding thinkers and literary figures the college produced, including Kanzo Uchimura, Shigetaka Shiga, Inazo Nitobe, and Takeo Arishima. This philosophy of an all-around education has been handed down at Hokkaido University through our tradition of emphasizing a liberal arts education as the key to producing graduates armed with the well-rounded acuity and deep insights they need to apply their specialized knowledge. To further advance this philosophy, Hokkaido University seeks to provide an all-around education that will cultivate a rich humanity and lofty intellect, foster a spirit of freedom and independence, and encourage students to establish autonomous identities. We believe this kind of education produces graduates who respect human rights and have the basic abilities required to accurately respond to society's needs.

Practical Learning

Our philosophy of emphasizing practical learning acquired a dual significance in the course of the various hardships Sapporo Agricultural College overcame as it developed into today's comprehensive university. We view research as the process of creating universal learning that is integrated with the real world, and we seek to emphasize not only basic research but also focus on returning the fruits of our research to society by prioritizing its practical applications. The botanical research conducted by Kingo Miyabe and the research on snow by Ukichiro Nakaya, both carried out in the vast wilderness of Hokkaido, are outstanding examples of research on familiar topics that led to universal truths. Much of the research at Hokkaido University is developed in collaboration with regional industries. Hokkaido University intends to pursue a modern emphasis on practical learning, utilizing absolute truths that are grounded in the real world. By making full use of Hokkaido's unique characteristics and expanding our collaborations within government, industry, and academia, we aim to give back the fruits of our research to Hokkaido, Japan, and the rest of the world. In addition, Hokkaido University strives to produce leading experts and professionals in our graduate schools, and to improve our adult education program.

Nobel Prize

Emeritus Professor Akira Suzuki, who worked for more than 40 years at Hokkaido University after graduating, won the Nobel Prize in Chemistry in 2010. The prize was given for his work on “palladium-catalyzed cross couplings in organic synthesis,” which produce a more stable, nontoxic reaction compared with other reactions, an innovation that drastically changed the methodology of organic synthetic chemistry and serves as a foundation for manufacturing. It also has made a significant contribution to the development of products that are familiar in our daily lives, such as pharmaceutical drugs, pesticides, liquid crystals, and organic light-emitting diodes. The achievement perfectly embodies our philosophy of “practical learning.”

Nobel Prize

Specially Appointed Professor Benjamin List, who has worked as a Principal Investigator at the Institute for Chemical Reaction Design and Discovery since the institution's establishment in 2018, won the Nobel Prize in Chemistry in 2021. The prize was given for his work on “the development of asymmetric organocatalysis,” which has emerged as the third major type of catalysis, in addition to metal and enzyme based catalysis. Organic catalysts are carbon-based instead of metal-based, making them comparatively environmentally friendly and cheap. Molecules can often have two versions that are mirror images of each other. Asymmetric organocatalysts have become widely adopted because of their ability to control a reaction so that only one of these mirror images is produced, which is especially important when making pharmaceuticals.

— Purpose and Outline of GI-CoRE Implementation —

The Global Institution for Collaborative Research and Education (GI-CoRE) was formed as a faculty organization under the direct control of the President that brings together world-class researchers from around the world to conduct collaborative research with our University faculties. Under the GI-CoRE system, “Global Stations (GS)” are established as activity hubs for each research field. At each GS, research and educational activities have been intensively promoted within a standard establishment period of five years. After the implementation period, GS projects were transitioned into the affiliated faculties and centers, and certified as “GI-CoRE Cooperating Hubs” to further promote research and education activities in cooperation with GI-CoRE.

The division publishes a "Greenhouse Gas (GHG) Inventory" to track GHG emissions across the entire university, and in fiscal year 2025 formulated the "Hokkaido University Climate Action Plan" as a roadmap toward this goal, carrying out the planning, development, and implementation of concrete measures to meet the targets. The university also manages extensive and ecologically rich fields and campus grounds and is committed to establishing an innovative model that harmonizes carbon neutrality with biodiversity conservation, tailored to distinct climate and characteristics of Hokkaido.

SDGs Initiative Division

Established in August 2021. Ever since its founding of the former Sapporo Agricultural College, the University has cultivated sustainability mindset linked to SDGs. With this historical background, the SDGs Initiative Division has been operated within the Institute for the Advancement of Sustainability.

In order to realize "Creation of Sustainable Well-being Society" as set forth in "HU VISION 2030", which was formulated in 2023, the Division consolidates various related projects such as education, research, social collaboration, and public relations regarding SDGs, promotes these initiatives, and creates a driving force for social change that contributes to the achievement of the SDGs.

Modern Japanese Studies Program (MJSP)

The Modern Japanese Studies Program (MJSP) is a four-year Bachelor's Degree program, preceded by one semester Intensive Japanese Course for students without sufficient Japanese to enter the Bachelor's Degree program directly.

The program has four main characteristics:

- Intensive study of the Japanese language—students should be completely fluent on graduation
- The study of Japan in four main academic disciplines—history, cultural studies, sociology, and political economy
- Co-learning with Japanese students—students will take many classes with their Japanese peers
- A flexible curriculum that allows students to discover their Japan from the unique and multicultural vantage point of Japan's northernmost island

Students start by taking intensive Japanese courses alongside social sciences courses in English. Once students have sufficient Japanese, they may take courses in Japanese in the faculties of Law, Humanities and Human Sciences, Education, and Economics & Business.

Integrated Science Program (ISP)

The Integrated Science Program (ISP) is a cross-disciplinary educational science program for international students interested in pursuing a degree in the natural sciences in the Bachelor's and Master's. The program's strong cross-disciplinary nature aims to give students an excellent broad scientific education across the core scientific disciplines (physics, chemistry and biology) in the School of Science, while allowing them to specialize in their chosen fields in later years in accordance with their own interests. While students' main scientific studies are entirely in English, a multitude of additional courses such as business skills courses or leadership and management skills courses will be available in the liberal arts and Japanese language to ensure students receive a rich and fulfilling education while at Hokkaido University.

Hokkaido Summer Institute (HSI)

Hokkaido University (HU) started the Hokkaido Summer Institute (HSI) in 2016. The HSI is a program that brings together world-leading researchers with proven educational and research records, and provides educational courses in cooperation with HU faculty members.

The HSI offers approximately 150 courses from June to October, allowing about 700 students from overseas universities and 1,500 HU students to expand their knowledge of subjects in research fields in which the university specializes.

Program participants have an opportunity to attend classes taught using attractive educational techniques such as field training utilizing Hokkaido's extensive land and active learning to develop human resources capable of thriving on the world stage.

The medium of instruction is English. This provides international students with a stress-free learning environment without having to worry about language barriers and also creates a special opportunity for Japanese students who can take classes taught by internationally acclaimed researchers. The university has high expectations that HSI students will cultivate a better understanding of other cultures and improve their English-language proficiency and communication skills through exchanges with researchers and students from other countries.

Learning Satellite (LS)

Hokkaido University (HU) has established learning satellites around the globe to offer courses to students from HU and overseas universities in line with its vision of becoming an institution that contributes to the resolution of global issues as stated in the Future Strategy for the 150th Anniversary of Hokkaido University.

By offering various programs around the globe that allow students from HU and from countries beyond Japan to learn together, this project aims to nurture talented individuals who are capable of contributing to the resolution of global issues and aims to promote collaboration between faculty members at HU and overseas universities in order to internationalize and enhance the quality of HU educational programs. The project aims to develop joint educational programs (e.g., double-degree programs and cooperative research guidance) and research collaborations with overseas institutions.

One program for Global Goals (OGGs)

The One program for Global Goals (OGGs) is an Interdisciplinary Graduate Education Program for all graduate students of Hokkaido University, established for deepening their studies and broadening their perspectives by integrating three international joint education programs adopted under the MEXT's "Inter-University Exchange" Project, while utilizing the characteristics of each program.

The OGGs aims to develop human resources who can contribute to solving global issues and realizing a sustainable society in cooperation and collaboration with people from different countries, regions and organizations. It has a cross-disciplinary curriculum that covers a wide range of sustainability-related topics including SDGs from the basic to advanced levels.

The OGGs is based on international co-learning activities, with lectures, discussions and group work in English with students from overseas partner universities, and fieldwork in Japan and overseas. We offer 8 courses in the Hokkaido Summer Institute (HSI) and 2 courses in the Learning Satellite (LS).

Group work as international co-learning activities (in OGGs course of HSI)

HOKKAIDO UNIVERSITY

The Trillium flower is symbolic of Hokkaido University and used as its official logo. In this design, the flower symbolizes “human” by combining intelligence, individuality, and diversity. The overlapping elegant lines of the flowers represent human relationships and knowledge. The flowers’ silhouettes reflect academic and contemporary values, suitable for Hokkaido University.

Hokkaido Daigaku Yayopeope Kanpi

On the front cover: Hokkaido Daigaku Yayopeope Kanpi is the Ainu translation of the Japanese name of the Hokkaido University Guidebook. Hokkaido Daigaku is Japanese for Hokkaido University, introduced into Ainu as a loanword; Yayopeope is Ainu for self-introduction, and Kanpi means booklet.

To respect the history and culture of the Ainu, the indigenous people of Hokkaido, we are promoting the use of the Ainu language on campus. This initiative not only provides an opportunity for members and stakeholders of the University to deepen their understanding of Ainu culture, but also lead to the realization of a society in which the Ainu language is commonplace.
